Despite assurances, there has been no communication from the state government on the issues that were last discussed with the Minister of State for Home Pradeepsinh Jadeja on May 7. As we were assured to receive a confirmation, we waited till Monday and even the following day but no response was received from the authorities. So, finally we had to give a call for the strike," GMFA president Dr Rishish Patel said.

The GMFA has been raising its 15-point demand including salary hike, regularising of adhoc teachers, delay in promotion and pension among other issues. Some of these demands include regularisation of services of all ad hoc medical teachers with one single

In addition, nursing staff at Gujarat Medical Education and Research Society (GMERS) Sola Civil hospital have also joined the call of the indefinite strike given by GMERS Faculty Association. Also, on the International Nurses Day, the nursing staff Civil Hospital in Asarwa Wednesday held a demonstration in a mark of protest for their long-pending demands for better pay scales.

The GMERS Faculty Association and GMERS Nurses Association, with 700 and 2000 members, respectively, across eight medical colleges and hospitals in the state have joined the indefinite strike from Wednesday. They are also demanding implementation of the Seventh Pay leave travel concession, medical reimbursement, gratuity and earned leave encashment.

"Since 2016, the Seventh Pay Commission has not been implemented for the GMERS nursing staff. Also, there is no promotion policy for us despite working for last 12 years along with other pending demands, which we have been raising with several government departments," Dhawal Patel, the president of GMERS Nurses Association said.
